

DIY STRIPED CROP TOP

We used the lower half of the shirt and the sleeves for the diy tshirt, but now we will use the upper part with the color to make an adorable crop top!

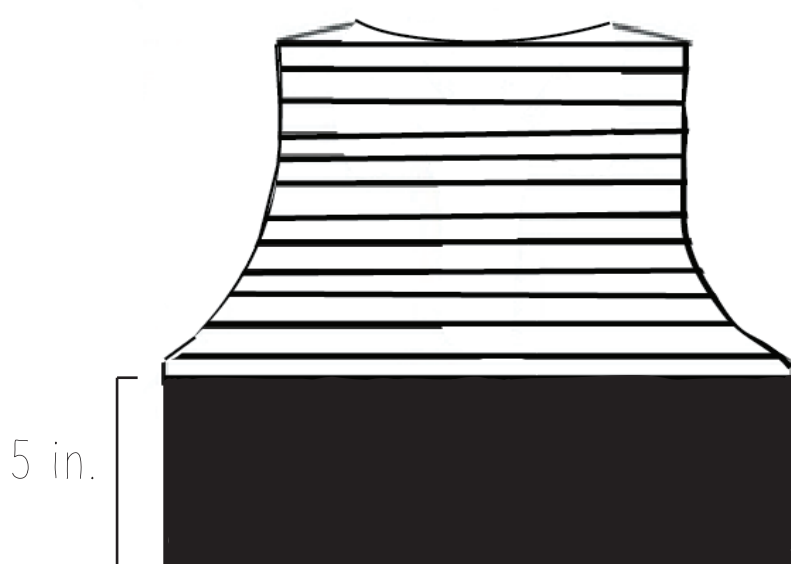

This will actually be the back of the shirt. To make the low back, cut as low as you would like in a deep U shape. Cut the sleeves to the shape you want. To make the shirt a bit looser, cut down the center of the back.

This is what the back will look like once you sew the arm holes and add the stripe on the back.

What was the back of the original shirt will be the front. Simply make a high neckline and hem the neck all the way around.

Add a band of solid fabric (same as you put in the back) to the bottom of the crop top. Hem the bottom.

Easy breezy!! It is actually reversible and so cute with high waisted skirts and pants. It would look totally cute with any pattern or fabric.

XOXO, K
